TROUBLE BROKE LOOSE

NEGRO QUESTION AROUSED EXCITEMENT IN HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

DEMOCRATS WANT NEGROES DISCHARGED

Resolution to That Effect Was Introduced, but After a Lively Debate Was Referred to Committee By a Narrow Vote.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Jan. 5.—The trouble which has been imminent in the legislature since the negroes were put to work as clerks broke loose in the house of representatives at 11 o'clock this morning. The affair of yesterday, whereby Franklin, the negro bill clerk, was discharged, brought the matter to a head when Representative Duncan, democrat, of Lincoln county, introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, It has been stated by authoritative sources that one of the negro employees of this house has attempted to and has insulted one of the white lady employees of the senate, and has been discharged from employment in this house; and, whereas, the negro employees of this house have, by reason of their assignment, been placed in positions of clerical employment where they come in constant contact with the white women and men clerks of the house in positions tending to establish social equality of the white and negro races; and, whereas, on account of the numerous negro employees of this house they have, by their constant use of the toilet rooms and towels provided for the members of the general assembly and white employees, become such a nuisance as to cause the senate to pass a resolution requesting the commissioner of the permanent seat of government to provide separate towels and toilet rooms for said negro employees; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on clerical force be required and ordered to discharge every negro employee of this house, except those employed on the doorkeeper's force; and for the negroes retained on that force that the commissioner of the permanent seat of government be authorized and requested to furnish separate toilet rooms and towels for their use during this session.

Mr. Lloyd, of the majority, moved at once to refer the resolution to the clerical committee, and a stormy session ensued, at least twenty democrats demanding a roll call.

Mr. Lloyd remarked that the majority side of the house is ready at all times to protect all, regardless of race or creed, and he was greeted with a storm of hisses from the gallery, while Mr. Conran of New Madrid, shot quickly at Representative Lloyd the question:

"Does the gentleman from St. Louis place upon an equal basis the white woman and the negro buck?"

Representative Lloyd answered that he did not, of course.

Upon a persistent call, the roll was called, and by the narrow vote of 61 to 52 the resolution was referred to the committee.

The question is at a red heat in this house and is by no means settled. A lively time is sure to ensue when the committee reports on the resolution.

GALE STRUCK MUSKOGEE

Terrific Wind Did Minor Damage in Oklahoma Town.

Muskogee, Ok., Feb. 5.—A terrific wind storm swept over Muskogee early today, doing considerable minor damage. As far as known, no one was hurt.

Four huge smokestacks were blown down at the gas and electric light plant. They crashed through the roof, disabling the machinery and leaving the city in darkness.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Parents of George L. Yeager to Celebrate Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yeager, of Boonville, parents of George L. Yeager, of this city, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on March 22, and the eleven living children will be present to participate in the celebration.

Mr. Yeager is 76 years old and has resided at Boonville for fifty-six years. He is a shoemaker by trade. He and Mrs. Yeager were united in marriage at Boonville. Two of their children live in the Vine Clad city, one in Sedalia and the remaining eight live at St. Louis.

Slipped and Fractured Hip.

George L. Yeager, the barber, received a letter this morning advising him that his father, Frank Yeager, of Boonville, aged 76, had slipped on an icy sidewalk at Boonville, Mo., Wednesday, fracturing one hip. Owing to the patient's advanced age, his condition is serious. Mr. Yeager will go to Boonville Sunday to visit his father.

A DELIGHTFUL FUNCTION

MRS. JOHN T. STINSON WAS HOSTESS TO COMPANY OF FRIENDS.

THE AMUSEMENT WAS THE GAME OF 500

Mrs. C. E. Messerly Won the First Prize—An Elaborate 4-Course Luncheon Served—Many Handsome Gowns.

Mrs. John T. Stinson gave a thoroughly enjoyable card party yesterday afternoon to a large number of guests at her home, 1301 West Third street.

She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. T. Carman and Mrs. C. E. West.

The first floor of the commodious home was a pleasing sight, brilliant with electric lights, many ferns, a profusion of choice cut flowers and blooming calla lilies.

The game of 500 was played, Mrs. C. E. Messerly winning the first prize, a sepia picture of the old Nantucket windmill, artistically framed. The guests were pleasantly surprised by each being presented with sepia, mounted on folders, a choice souvenir of the party.

Miss Grace Carman and Miss Frances West assisted Mrs. Stinson in serving an elaborate four-course luncheon, consisting of fruit cocktail, oyster patties, shrimp salad, olives and hot Parker house rolls, fruit ice cream, angel food cake, coffee and candied ginger.

The two little daughters of Mrs. Stinson also did their share in helping entertain, while Master John Stinson shook hands with the guests quite as cordially as the genial state fair secretary himself.

Mrs. Stinson wore a dress of black messaline, enriched by ornamental trimmings of gold. The guests were beautifully gowned.

All in all, it was a very delightful affair, one of those companies where mirth and good cheer made a social game of cards a real pleasure.

In the evening Mrs. Stinson entertained a company of about twelve guests, Mrs. Idols, of St. Louis, and Miss Grace, of Chillicothe, being the out-of-town guests.

STATE FAIR WANTS $142,000

Committee on Appropriations Is a Good One.

John T. Stinson, secretary of the Missouri state fair, and N. H. Gentry, one of the directors, came home this morning from a visit to the state capital.

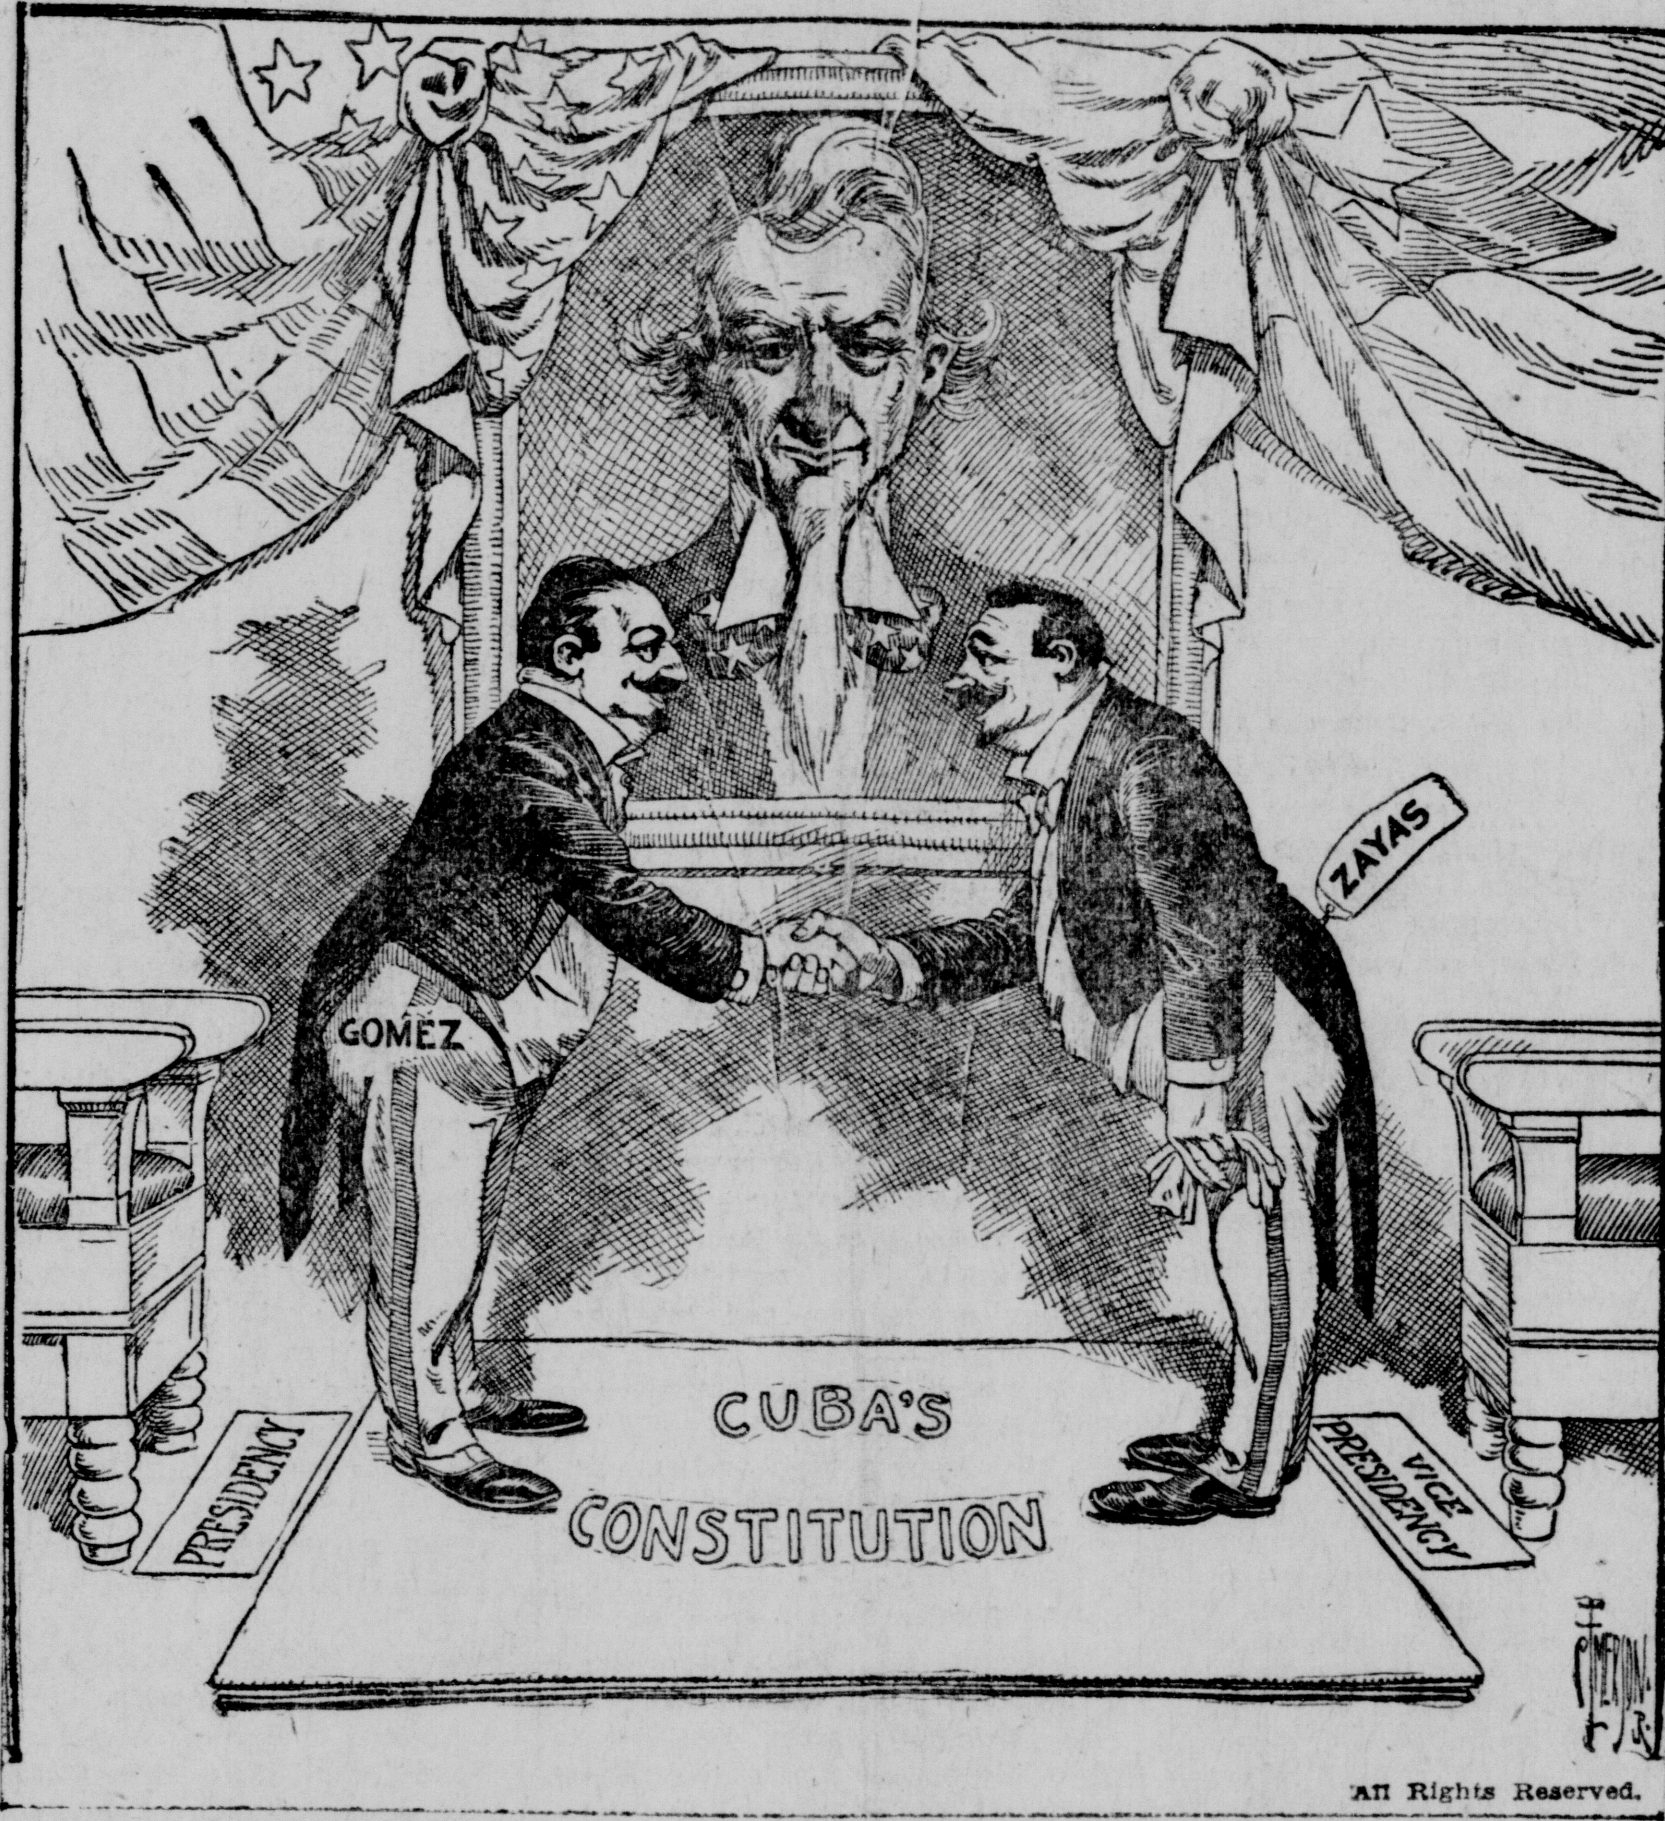

The gentlemen were present when the house committees were appointed yesterday afternoon, and Secretary Stinson is well pleased with the makeup of the committee on appropriations, which will be asked to set aside $142,000 for the state fair. The committee is composed of the following members:

Lloyd, of St. Louis, chairman; Brasfield, of Putnam; Hensley, of Gasconade; Stanley, of Webster; Stevenson, of Andrew; Silver, of St. Charles; Martin, of Douglas; Johnson, of Daviess; Hale, of Carroll; Kyle, of Ozark; Deal, of Mississippi; Muir, of Lewis; Conran, of New Madrid; Cook, of Ray; Lynch, of Randolph, and Sosey, of Marion.

Had a Monster Petition.

Dr. J. E. Cannaday went to Jefferson City this morning with a petition containing the signatures of one thousand residents of Sedalia and Pettis county, asking the state legislature to pass a law for state-wide prohibition in 1909.

AS IT SHOULD BE

HAS TRADED FOR A RANCH

JOSEPH H. RODES EXCHANGES VALUABLE PROPERTY ON LAMINE STREET.

HE GETS THE RALPH BLAIR FRUIT FARM

Latter Consists of 47½ Acres in the State of California—The Two Properties Valued at $12,000 Each.

J. H. Rhodes, president of the Worrell Manufacturing company, has closed a deal whereby he becomes owner of a fruit ranch of 47½ acres, situated in San Diego county, Cal., giving in exchange the three-story building at 31½-15 South Lamine avenue, occupied on the first floor and basement by the company's plant and offices, and the third floor occupied with furnished rooms.

The transfer was made with E. R. Blair, cashier of the Sedalia National bank, who closed the deal for his son, Ralph Blair, a former Sedalia hardware merchant, the latter relinquishing his holdings in the Golden state to return to Sedalia to live.

The ranch is valued at $12,000. It is located eighteen miles from San Diego and three miles from Lakeside. It is on the Cuyamaca and Eastern railway, and has a seven-room house, household goods and furniture, live stock and other goods and chattels of a homestead.

Mr. Rhodes made the transfer in order to have a winter home, and the manufacturing company will still occupy its present building, renting the same from the new owner.

JURY COULDN'T AGREE

Ex-Banker Was Very Lucky When Tried for Embezzling.

New York, Feb. 5.—The Brooklyn jury before which William Gow, formerly president of the International Trust company and director of the Borough bank of Brooklyn, was tried on a charge of larceny of $145,000, disagreed early today, the vote standing eight for acquittal and four for conviction.

GRIEVED JAPANESE CONSUL

Passage of Bill Segregating Little Brown Children Is Regretted.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 5.—News of the passage of the Johnson bill for the segregation of Japanese children in the public schools was received at the Japanese consulate as soon as the bill was passed. Secretary Koyama made a statement, saying:

"The Japanese consul and residents are very much grieved that the assembly passed the bill." He said he is confident, however, that the bill will not pass the senate.

Daughter Born This Morning.

R. N. Cook, a popular employee of the Stevenson Packing Co., and his good wife, living at 1405 South Montau avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter, who tipped the scales at eight pounds, at their home at 3 o'clock this morning. Dr. D. P. Dyer was the attending physician.

THE MISSING BAILEY BOY

NOT A TRACE OF HIM SINCE HE DISAPPEARED FROM HOME ON FOURTH STREET.

AGONIZED MOTHER SAYS IT'S A MYSTERY

Does Not See How a Boy of 13 Years, Who Had No Money, Can Elude the Officers So Long—Did Lad Commit Suicide?

Victor Bailey a 13-year-old son of Mrs. Lucy Bailey, 610 West Fourth street, who on Sunday, Jan. 24, inflicted a stab wound in the abdomen of his 15-year-old brother, Kirk, which resulted fatally, has not yet been located, in spite of the vigilant search made by his relatives and the authorities.

Mrs. Bailey was seen by a representative of the Democrat-Sentinel today, and stated that she had heard nothing, either directly or indirectly from her son since the day he left home.

"It's a mystery to me," Mrs. Bailey said, "how a boy of that age, without any money, can elude the officers or be hid for so long a time."

The only relative of the Bailey family living in this part of the country is a son living near Dresden, but the escaped youth has never made his appearance in that locality.

Victor also has a brother living in the state of Washington, but it is hardly probable that the young assailant would start for that place without a penny.

"Some people have accused me of hiding the boy," Mrs. Bailey continued, "but I assure you such is not the case, for I have not heard a single word from him since he left."

There are some who fear young Bailey committed suicide in a fit of remorse, following the death of his brother, but such belief is not widely entertained.

SHOES FOR THE BOWERY

THE HABITUES OF THE CAFES AND CHEAP HOTELS TO BE GIVEN A TREAT.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN IS TO "DO THE ACT"

The Annual Distribution of Shoes Is His Pet Charity—Can March to Glory With New Shoes and Dry Socks.

New York, Feb. 5.—There is an air of subdued excitement on the Bowery today and habitués of the cafes and 10-15-20-cent hotels along that famous thoroughfare are fairly gurgling with glee.

Tomorrow is to be "shoe day" on the Bowery, and 5,000 men will cast aside the worn remnants of today's footgear and don new $3 shoes and woolen socks.

The shoes will be the gift of the Timothy D. Sullivan association, which is the legal name of "Big Tim" Sullivan, Bowery statesman, incorporated.

For years the free shoe distribution has taken place on February 6, a date which the Big One's lieutenants know is the anniversary of something in his life—just what it was he has never told them.

Anyway—and this is the important thing—on that same date every year a few thousand of Big Tim's impecunious admirers put on warm new shoes and stockings and proudly tramp the Bowery sidewalks to the tune of a ditty that sings the praises of "Big Tim's" name.

The annual distribution of shoes is Sullivan's pet charity, for, he says, "A man can march to glory in a pair of new shoes and dry socks."

HOME TALENT ENTERTAINMENT

To Be Given at New Sedalia Theater Tuesday, February 16.

Sedalia has in store for it one of the cleverest home talent entertainments ever given here.

The people who make up the cast and who term themselves the "Mask" club, appreciating how hard it is for local talent to produce a lengthy play, no matter how clever the artists may be, have wisely decided to put on a short sketch, with many clever specialties.

The club has been organized for some time and its manager has been corresponding with companies who make it a business to get up shows of this character and through them has chosen the best they offer for this entertainment.

The money derived will go towards a very worthy cause and when solicited by its members no one need hesitate to purchase tickets, for beyond question the evening will be full of laughter and enjoyment.

There will be singing and dancing specialties uniquely and beautifully costumed, in addition to the comedy sketch.

The entertainment will be given at the Sedalia theater Tuesday night, February 16, and the price of tickets will be 50 cents. The Democrat-Sentinel will print the cast of the play later.

KNEE OF A DEAD PATIENT

WAS PUT IN THE LEG OF A LIVE MAN IN WASHINGTON HOSPITAL.

THE OPERATION ALMOST BEYOND BELIEF

After Patient Had Died, and While the Body Was Warm, Knee Was Removed and Put in Place of Diseased One.

Washington, Feb. 5.—What is regarded by physicians and surgeons as a remarkable operation was performed at the Georgetown University hospital in this city, when Dr. George T. Vaughn removed the left knee of George A. Kelly, aged 29, and substituted the knee of a dead man.

The bones of Kelly's knee were so badly diseased that Dr. Vaughn decided on amputation. In a ward of the hospital lay a man about to die. Dr. Vaughn obtained permission from the patient's family to remove the left leg, in the event of death, and it was decided that the knee should be grafted to the leg of the living sufferer.

Kelly's condition gradually grew worse and the man upon whom so much depended also grew weaker. The latter suddenly succumbed.

Before the body became cold, Dr. Vaughn, assisted by several physicians at the hospital, amputated the left leg just above the knee. Kelly was quickly placed under the influence of anesthetics and the diseased knee was amputated. Meantime the dead man's leg was being carefully dissected.

The knee joint was cut away from the calf of the leg, while a similar operation was performed on Kelly. When the diseased knee was removed Dr. Vaughn quickly substituted the "borrowed" one.

The bones were riveted together by delicate, strong wire, and the most delicate phase of the operation, that of joining the ligaments, caused the surgeons to work as they probably never labored before.

Every tissue, tendon and muscle was joined and the bones fastened together. In the course of time, say the physicians, the bones will knit together, the ligaments will become strong and the man will be able to use his leg.

Such an operation, it is said, has never before been performed in this country. One similar to it, the physicians say, and the only one, has been performed in Germany.

MANY ARE NOW JOINING

A Membership In Excess of Five Hundred Is Expected.

Twenty applications from merchants and professional men of the city to become members of the Merchants' Mercantile and Home Industry association were received by Secretary C. C. Lawson today.

Sending out cards announcing the purpose of the organization was begun yesterday, meeting with the foregoing response today.

Secretary Lawson is very enthusiastic relative to the interest being taken by the merchants in general, and it is now thought that the membership will exceed 500.

Ends With Banquet Tonight.

One hundred delegates from Sedalia, Windsor, Waverburg, Otterville, Blackwater, Climax Springs and Holden are in Sedalia today, attending a district meeting of Loyal Rebekah lodge No. 260, auxiliary to the I. O. O. F., at the Odd Fellows' hall, in the Cassidy building.

Mrs. Jerome Moyer, grand warden, will call the meeting to order late this afternoon, and the session will conclude tonight with a sumptuous banquet.

LIVE ONE-THIRD LONGER

IF WE WERE TO ADOPT HYGIENIC REFORMS OF WHICH WE ALREADY KNOW.

PURE AIR, WATER AND MILK ESSENTIAL

Could Prevent 75 Per Cent of Tuberculosis, 45 of Pneumonia, 85 of Typhoid and 70 of Diphtheria.

New York, Feb. 5.—Declaring that human life in America could be lengthened by one-third—that is, more than fifteen years—by the adoption of hygienic reforms already known, Dr. Irving Fisher, of Yale university, this afternoon in an address before the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, urged the advisability of insurance companies taking an active part in the crusade against tuberculosis and other preventable diseases. He contended that any money expended in educating the public along the lines of modern hygiene would be returned many times over to the policyholders, to say nothing of the enormous economic gains to the country at large.

Dr. Fisher, who has been professor of political economy of Yale since 1898, is president of the committee of one hundred on national health, which is carrying on an extensive movement throughout the country to improve living conditions. His address was delivered to practical insurance men, company presidents, medical directors and actuaries, while included in the audience were also physicians and others prominent in the present anti-tuberculosis movement. Among other things Dr. Fisher said:

"Tuberculosis is known to be preventable. In my table, it is entered as 75 per cent preventable; pneumonia as 45 per cent preventable; typhoid as 85 per cent; diphtheria, 70 per cent. These conservative figures are among the highest allowed. Many diseases, such as cancer, are recorded in the table as zero per cent preventable, although the best expert opinion would allow some degree of preventability, if prevention begins early in life. It is estimated that at least eight years could be added to human life by securing reasonably pure air, water and milk."

THEY POSED AS DETECTIVES

But Broke Into Judge Leaming's Court Just the Same.

Bert Allsman and John Keowenn, Muskogee, Ok., youths, each 17 years old, traveling under the disguise of detectives, were apprehended by J. C. Connor, an M. K. & T. secret service officer, in the Katy yards last night.

Allsman carried a revolver, while his partner possessed a large dirk knife and wore a detectives' badge, which he displayed with pride.

Allsman was fined $50 and costs by Judge Leaming this morning, while a charge of disturbing the peace was preferred against Keowenn, whose hearing was continued until later in the day.

CHARGED THE STRIKERS

Trouble Grew Out of Non-Union Men Going to Work.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—As a result of violence being offered today by striking miners at Tremont coal mine, Bellevue, Pa., to non-union miners who went to work yesterday, a troop of the state constabulary charged the strikers today.

Several persons on both sides were slightly injured.

Dr. J. E. Cannaday has leased the ground floor of the McCloskey building, on East Fourth street, recently erected, and will move his offices into his new quarters from 619 Ohio avenue Tuesday.

STILL KEEPING IT UP.

Isn't there some way by which the city authorities can stop the nuisance of sweeping Ohio street in the early evening, when the sidewalks are filled with pedestrians?

The subject has been mentioned by the Democrat-Sentinel before and it was thought then that the practice would be discontinued as soon as attention was called to it.

On the contrary, however, it seems to have done no good. Last night between 8 and 9 o'clock the sweeper made its progress through the street while throngs of people, many of them ladies, were out, throwing mud and water and slush upon the side walks and onto the clothing of the passers by.

So thick did this stuff come that many had to take refuge in stores to escape the avalanche and to keep their apparel from absolute ruin.
Those caught where there were no places open or way to escape were compelled to endure the discomfort and misfortune of being covered with street refuse.

It's easy to stop this sort of thing,
and it should be done.

THE ROAD PROBLEM.

President Roosevelt's commission on country life appears to have hit upon something definite and practical when it turned its attention to an examination of the rural roads of the country and set itself to devise some general plan of improvement. This departure from the original schedule is quite promising. If the president had established a national good roads commission there would be grounds for hope for practical results at no distant day. But the country life commission has too broad a scope for prompt achievement.

The subject of good roads is one that opens a wide field of usefulness for the country life commission, and this is a work that is quite big enough to engross the attention of the commissioners for some time to come.

Public highways are the most important thing that concerns the farmers of the land today.

In France and some of the other countries of Europe that boast of excellent country roads, the supervision and much of the work is done under government control.

If the country life commission would center its attention upon this and other practical subjects and strive to bring good results, it would dismarm levity and attract serious attention to itself—something it has not yet succeeded in doing to any large extent.

MERELY HELPERS.

A journal published in the interest of street car advertising says: "Where can you look for a more cosmopolitan audience? Rich and poor, high and low, professional and laboring man, all ride on the street car." Very true.
Many people who can't read are included in the scope of car card
"circulation," likewise many others who can read only foreign languages; likewise many who never look at car cards; likewise many who look at the same card twice or even four times a day, and then don't know two minutes after they leave the car what the advertisement was about.

Nevertheless, car cards, like many other auxiliary devices, limited in their sphere, are excellent mediums—for certain purposes. The chief service they are capable of rendering is to reinforce convincing, argumentative appeals in the daily newspapers by reminding the traveler of articles for which the daily newspapers have created a demand.

A politician speaking last week in favor of woman suffrage longed for the time when he might take the five votes of the women of his own family to the polls with him in addition to his own. Did the gentleman ever try to drive five hen turkeys up the road at one time, expecting them all to do exactly as he directed? Women will have minds of their own in voting, as in everything else.

For the prompt response of America to the cry for help, grateful Italian proposals to endow Roosevelt as a Roman citizen. To be a citizen of Rome was accounted a great honor some twenty centuries ago, but Mr.
Roosevelt will prefer being a plain New Yorker. Even the title of a Roman senator does not sound as pleasing as that of a senator from New York.

A Paris journal suggests that in order to rid the world of rats the various governments should offer a reward of one penny for each rat killed.
Denmark, it appears, has already set the example. There, since a law was passed giving a half penny a head for all dead rats, the school boys of Copenhagen devote their playtime to hunting the rodent.

Wisconsin gags and splutters at confirming the direct purchase of a United States senatorship; Illinois halts and wiggles in the grasp of a discredited machine, keeping decision deadlocked; only Pennsylvania, corrupt and contented Pennsylvania, continues to wallow and rejoice in her political discredit.

Opium just now is not having soothing effects in China. On the contrary, the usually sporadic drug is producing riots over the planting of the poppies. The Chinese can not understand why they should sacrifice their special financial interests for the general good of the race, in which view they are not exclusively oriental.

The Season's Treat.

Undoubtedly one of the treats of the season will be the entertainment given at the Sedalia theatre on Thursday night, February 11th, by the University of Missouri combined Glee and Mandolin clubs. The organization is composed of thirty-two young men from the State University, and all are exceptional performers in their parts.
The vocal music is rendered by soloists, quartettes, and the whole Glee club of twenty voices. The Mandolin club of eleven strung instruments has always been well received and is quite a departure from what is usually carried by such a troupe. For a high class and entertaining show it is safe to say that you cannot miss it by attending.

A Geometrical Fallacy?

The somewhat intoxicated gentleman was making toward the door of his home with much difficulty. Over and over again he stooped, fixed his eye carefully on the door in question, ran his eye solemnly along the distance intervening between him and it, and started afresh, only to find himself once more tacking from side to side.

Business Genius.

He who can be "all things to all men"—solicitous of one's patronage, comparatively indifferent to another;
who can study his customer's likes

HICKS THE GROCER

To Remove Old Paper from Walls.

Many women do their own paper hanging. For sanitary and other reasons the old paper should be removed from the walls. This is usually very difficult to do, but I have just removed the paper from 13 rooms, where it was made very easy in the following way:
The paper was wet thoroughly with a thin, boiled flour paste, applied with whisk broom or whitewash brush, after which it came off in large strips. The time the paste was allowed to stay on varied with the thickness of the paper, and was easily determined by experiment. A cake turner was found to be of great use in starting the strips. I learned this "trick of the trade" from a paper hanger.

Encouragement.

There is a young clubman of Philadelphia who has been most persistent in his suit for the hand of the only daughter of a wealthy old merchant of that city.

Not long ago a friend meeting the young man on the street asked:

"How are things, Tom? Has she given you any encouragement?"

"I should say so," replied Tom.
"Only last night she told me that she would get every cent of the old man's fortune when he dies."—Illustrated

"How was that?" asked her friend.

"No," said Mrs. McCarthy, "nor

THEY DEFENDED HASKELL

CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNOR IS UNSHAKEN BECAUSE OF HIS INDICTMENT.

IT IS A ROOSEVELT-HEARST COMBINATION

"Pretended investigation instigated for the sole purpose of blackmail" is charge in resolution adopted.

Guthrie, Ok., Feb. 5.—Both houses of the Oklahoma legislature came together in Governor Haskell's defense yesterday, by adopting resolutions of confidence in him. The house resolution was offered by ballots, and adopted without debate by a strict party vote.

An identical resolution was offered later in the senate by Senator Smith as a substitute for another resolution offered earlier in the day, which declared the "Roosevelt-Hearst combination" had induced the grand jury to return indictments against Governor Haskell, and it charged "the pretended investigation was instigated for the sole purpose of blackmailing our chief executive."

The resolution, as adopted by both houses, after reciting the facts of the indictment, states that "certain enemies of Governor Haskell, both in and out of the state, are extremely active at this time in seeking his destruction, in order to evade legal responsibility; we take this occasion of expressing our esteem and continued confidence in Governor Haskell, and condemning a spirit of vindictiveness which is apparent in a proceeding of this kind based upon alleged acts supposed to have occurred more than four years ago."

An Ovation for the Governor.

Muskogee, Ok., Feb. 5.—Governor Haskell was given an ovation today when he arrived from Guthrie to make his appearance in the federal court and sign a bond under the recent indictment by the grand jury.

As the governor accompanied by his wife and several friends of Guthrie, alighted from the train more than a thousand persons were at the station with a brass band to greet him.

The appearance of the governor was the signal for long, loud cheering.

The governor and wife were conducted to an automobile decorated with American flags. With a band leading the way and playing, "Hail to the Chief," and hundreds of citizens on foot bringing up the rear, the governor was escorted to the Tar-net hotel.

When the hotel was reached the governor, in response to the demands for a speech, stood upon the automobile and amid cheers explained his indictment.

He declared he had incurred the enmity of the corporations, of President Roosevelt and of the government at Washington by championing the cause of labor. He thanked his friends and declared he would establish his innocence.

Later, the governor signed a bond, which already bore the signatures of hundreds of citizens. He then held an informal reception at the hotel, and spent the afternoon in conference with his attorney. He will return to Guthrie this evening. No date for the trial is set.

Shark Impaled by Steamer.

A shark of the enormous species which haunts the Red sea, was the cause of an extraordinary incident in the passage of the liner Oroya of the Orient Royal Mail line from Sydney to London. The liner had just rounded the islands of Perlin, when it was found that a huge tiger shark was firmly fixed on the bow of the vessel.
The shark, which was estimated to be from 23 feet to 25 feet in length, struggled in vain to free itself, beating violently with its tail on the starboard side of the liner. Its head was twisted round the port bow. Eventually the Oroya reversed her engines and the shark got free and disappeared in the depths, leaving a track of blood from the wound in its side where the prow of the ship had struck.

Company's Liabilities That Much in Excess of Assets.

New York, Feb. 5.—The liabilities of the defunct Fidelity Funding company, of which P. J. Keiran was pres-

$714,323, according to the report of Edwin A. Watson, referee, made public yesterday.

Mr. Watson's report, after taking testimony in the case, shows the assets at $22,921 and the liabilities at $737,245.

This statement, according to Thomas F. Gilroy, Jr., receiver, by no means represents all the assets and liabilities, but those shown in the statement about offset each other, leaving the deficit about the same.

tion that the tale is as remarkable as its hero, but merely that the town in which he lived and moved and marketed was very like the proverbial chaise in the measure of its horsepower.

He counted all the inhabitants among his friends. The fact was borne in upon him as a ban rather than a blessing when two pounds of fresh country sausage sprang of its own volition from his overladen basket and recoiled itself on the single top plate of a small coal heater that had never before done duty as a cooker.

The sausage sizzled on, while our enthusiastic marketer, removing his glasses, courted to the amused spectators.

AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off—Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

CASE SEEMED HOPELESS BUT CUTICURA CURED HER

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and puss oozed from the great sores on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I cannot praise Cuticura enough. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. My condition was so terrible that what cured me cannot fail to cure anybody of this awful disease. If any one doubts the truth of this letter, tell them to write to me. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent (liquid or pills) are sold throughout the world. For sale by Dr. J. C. Allen, Corp., Sole Proprietors, Boston, Mass. Mailed Free. Latest Cuticura Skin Book.

NEGRO ATTACKED A GIRL

THEN HE WAS SHOT DEAD IN HIS TRACKS BY THE OURRAGEOUS CITIZENS.

AT FEVER HEAT: THREATENS RACE WAR

Herron Hill People, Where a Score of Assaults Occurred, Armed for the Trouble Which is Likely to Occur.

Pittsburg, Feb. 5.—White men in the Lawrenceville district, two miles from the Herron Hill district, where a score of women recently have been attacked by negroes, last night killed a brutal black who attacked Miss Margaret Blossing.

Miss Blossing was in the kitchen of the house where she is employed, when the negro appeared and demanded the keys to the garage. She refused to give them to him and he choked and beat her.

Several men ran to the scene when the girl screamed. The negro drew a revolver and fired on the men, narrowly missing a group of children, who had congregated. A woman in an adjoining house narrowly escaped in jury.

A riot call brought a squad of police, who were joined by many citizens. The negro, whose name is said to be Morton, was finally brought to bay on a porch. He continued firing, but his bullets went wild, and he fell dead before a volley fired by the crowd.

Only a slight excuse is needed to precipitate a most violent race war. White residents of the Herron Hill residence district are at a fever heat of excitement over the recent attacks upon white girls by negroes, and are going about armed and looking for a chance to begin hostilities.

Judge John D. Shafer yesterday sentenced William Martin, a negro, to five years in the penitentiary, the limit of the law, for trying to attack Mrs. Mary Sharar.

In Mack McGee, a negro arrested in the raid last Thursday night, the police believe they have the man who has been leading the gang that terrorized the district for months.

McGee was identified as the negro who was seen running away from the scene of the most recent outrage, and Miss Ida O'Neill the victim of the attack, gave a description which fits McGee to a dot.

Came Near Being Serious Trouble.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Serious trouble was narrowly averted late last night when John Moulton, a negro, was arrested on a charge of accosting a white girl.

While the negro was on the way to the police station, in charge of a squad of police, a brother of the girl attempted to get him away from the officers.

A large crowd gathered, and the situation became alarming.

The crowd, however, was held in check and Moulton landed in jail.

SHE WOULD END THE GAMBLING.

Wife's Conscience Aroused, But Action to Be Deferred.

"I think it's simply awful," said the first woman, "the way men remain away from home at night and risk their earnings at the game of poker. My husband is a perfect fiend about the game. One night he had three friends at our house and they played that horrid game until nearly half-past three in the morning."

"My!" exclaimed the other woman, the one with the 5A plaid waist. "And does he lose much money?"

"No-o," says the first one. "He hasn't really lost any money. In fact he's been winning a little bit. But then that doesn't make it right. I would be opposed to gambling, no matter how much he might win. And just as soon as my husband wins enough to finish paying for my clothes that I've picked out I'm going to make him stop it. If he doesn't I'll leave him. I just simply won't live with a man who's a gambler."

Origin of Bank Check.

A Frenchman quoted in a Paris letter of the London Globe tells of the origin of the present day bank check. It is well known, he says, that the fog is so dense at times in London that everything is blotted out. That is the opportunity of the marauder, and he is not slow in turning it to his profit. At the beginning of last century the attacks made upon bank messengers and others became so numerous that tradesmen and manufacturers began to think seriously of devising some means of protecting themselves. They therefore invented the check, which enabled a man to go about with little ready money and renders useless the indiscreet exploration of a pocketbook.

IDENTITY TOLD BY DEATH

MAN WHO DIED IN A JOPLIN SALOON COUSIN OF STEEL MAGNATE FRICK.

HAD LEFT HIS WIFE AND SIX CHILDREN

Frank Frick Disappeared From Home in Pittsburg, Pa., Sixteen Years Ago Without Making Any Explanation.

Joplin, Mo., Feb. 5.—That Frank Frick, the man who died Monday of heart disease in the rear of a saloon, had been sought for sixteen years by his relatives in Pennsylvania, including his cousin, Henry C. Frick, the steel magnate, was told by a letter from a sister of the dead man, received by Undertaker W. K. Hurlbut yesterday. Frick's widow and six children are living in Pittsburg, Pa. The unusual feature revealed by the letter was that sixteen years ago Frick had dropped out of sight, and despite the efforts of his relatives to find him no trace whatever was found, and nothing had been heard from him or of him until the telegram of the Joplin undertaker notified them of his death.

There is no explanation given of Frick's departure, and the impression is given that the abandonment of his family is a mystery to his relatives.

A 1-HOUR DAY LABOR'S AIM

In That Way There'll Be Employment for All, a Leader Says.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 5.—Organized labor throughout the United States has started a move for the 7-hour day in all lines of work.

Harry D. Thomas, secretary of the Cleveland United Trades and Labor council, and of the Ohio Federation of Labor, announces that the agitation for an 8-hour day is only the beginning of the larger movement.

The ultimate end is to reduce the hours of labor until all men are employed one hour a day, if necessary to employ all, Thomas said.

Only in this event, Thomas said, can workmen share with their employers in the benefits of time and labor saving machinery.

DENTAL FORCEPS IN ANTIQUITY.

Proof That They Existed, But No Specimens Are in Existence.

Dr. Sudhoff not long ago read a paper before the Leipzig Medical society on dental forceps in antiquity. He said that even before the time of Hippocrates reference to the use of such instruments are found, but no specimens are met with among the surgical implements belonging to classical times that have been discovered. This can only be due to the material of which they were made. Unlike the mass of other Graeco-Roman surgical instruments, which were nearly all of bronze, the dental forceps of antiquity must have been made of iron or steel, although no medical writer mentions the fact. In the Aristotelian "Mechanical Problems," however, there is a passage which, according to Dr. Sudhoff, has hitherto been overlooked, in which it is mentioned as a familiar fact that dental forceps were made of iron. In the museum at Homburg, where there is an almost unrivaled collection of iron implements, two steel-plated dental forceps, one for the upper, the other for the lower jaw, have been found. That dental forceps should have formed part of the armamentarium of a military surgeon in a remote outpost shows in what common use the instrument was.—British Medical Journal.

Strong Dramatic Scene in "Texas," at the Sedalia Theatre Tonight.

"Texas" was written by a southern woman, Jane Maudlin Feigl, and is a strong, virile play of ranch life on the great mesas bordering on Mexico. The story is based on facts and the characters taken from life. The plot concerns the efforts of one Pasquale to brand the hero, Jack Dallana,

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R.V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Human Hearts."

"Human Hearts," the play of the Arkansas hills, will be produced at the Sedalia theater Sunday, matinee and night.

Like Shore Acres and the Old Homestead, time only increases its hold upon the hearts of the people. The prattle of an innocent child, the tears of an old blind mother, the strong love of a simple country girl, the truth of a half-wit, the love of an old-time negro, the passion of an adventuress and a tender memory of a dead mother of the past of the governor of Arkansas, are all cleverly intermingled by the deft hand of the author of this absorbing tale of the Arkansas hills.

Each succeeding season of this play's annually increasing business has induced the management to engage for this season's production one of the strongest companies ever organized in one cast. To the lovers of a good play, not one on the list this season will appeal more strongly than "Human Hearts."

The Value of Books.

A young girl once asked Mark Twain if he liked books for Christmas gifts.

"Well, that depends," drawled the great humorist. "If a book has a leather cover it is really valuable as a razor strap. If it is a brief, concise work, such as the French writer, it is useful to put under the short leg of a rhabby table. An old-fashioned book with a clasp can't be beat as a missile to hurl at a dog, and a large book, like a geography, is as good as a piece of tin to nail over a broken pane of glass."

Debts of the Rich and Poor.

Debts, as a general rule, are harder to be collected from the rich man than from the "slave" of toil, for the former builds upon his position in society to excuse him from his obligations, while the latter often makes the attempt to discharge his contracts to preserve his standing in the community.

Convicts Work on Farms.

Orderly and well-behaved convicts are now being employed as agricultural laborers in Austria, owing to the lack of farm hands. The prisoners are much pleased with the work, and their employment is an incentive to others to behave well in prison.

MERCHANTS WILL BE PROTECTED AGAINST DEAD BEATS.

HAVE A NEW ORGANIZATION IN SEDALIA

Merchant's Mercantile Company Come to Sedalia for Subscribers—Similar to Dun's and Bradstreet's.

With the coming of the Merchant's Mercantile Co. to Sedalia, local merchants will have a place to get information about individuals who ask for a line of credit, the same as the larger commercial world has through the Dun and Bradstreet agencies. The company will direct its affairs in this district from the Oklahoma office.

Its representative, L. M. Hines, arrived here yesterday.

Everybody to Be Rated.

A credit rating for every person is supplied to any merchant who subscribes for the service.

The company, through its solicitors, gets as many merchants as possible in every town to subscribe for the service, paying for it so much for twenty months. The subscriber agrees to make out lists of his customers, giving information as to the standing of the customers. All those who are good pay he so states. All those who are poor pay he so states, etc.

These names are sent in to the office at Oklahoma City. They are put in alphabetical order and the ratings for every person from one or more merchants' books are computed. The books from this district, which comprises Sedalia and the surrounding towns, will be issued about the middle of March, all the names sent in by merchants under the agreement being found in that book.

Credit of New Comers Known.

Probably some people will not be rated at first in the book, but any merchant wanting to know the rating of any person who applies for credit can get his standing in the community where he is living at the time or where he comes from by writing to the office for a special rating.

Quarterly supplements are issued for every district also, which contain all new ratings received from the subscribers to the service.

No Use Moving Away.

So it seems as if the butcher, baker and candlestick maker are to learn now for a certainty who the dead beat is and what his habits are. The poor fellows, particularly the dead beat publishers of the city, will be up against the stiffest proposition now of their lives.

Here is the tip to the public: Pay up immediately and get as good a rating in that book as possible. No matter if a person moves away to get credit elsewhere, he will find the company doing business with the merchants there and they will get the rating of the new comer.

HARD F. R. HUBBY TO EXPLAIN. Wife's Apple Pie the Direct Cause of a Tragedy.

There was a tragedy out at the home of the Loring's the other day. The Loring's were married a little over a year ago. In the first week after their return from the wedding trip to the little flat, which they had so much fun in, furnishing Mrs. Loring offered as a dinner delicacy her first apple pie. He tried the pie, but was not equal to the task of eating any of it, and of course she wanted to know why.

"My dear, I never eat pie," explained Loring. "I thought I would try this just out of compliment to you, but I can't finish it. Besides, I am certain it will make me ill."

It was done with such skill that she put her arm lovingly about him and called him a "dear old thing" just for trying to eat it.

Now if there was any time at which Loring was at peace with the world it was when he was in front of a man's size slab of pie. But for a year he missed that pleasure in his new home. The other night Loring had as a guest a chum of boarding-house days, and the latter was telling of Loring's table feats.

"Did you ever in all your life," he asked the young wife, "see a man who could eat so much pie as he can?" Hence the tragedy.

Sometimes Hard to Tell.

George Eliot says that the expression on a woman's face when she is sewing tells the story of the woman's heart. If she is happy and contented, or possibly slovenly and indifferent, she may smile and look the happiness she either feels or is incapable of feeling. If she has many things to worry her and is possibly planning how to make ten cents do a dollar's worth of good, or if she is naturally a vixen, it will show in her face, so after all it is not safe to predicate as to what her sewing face reveals.

BREAKING BAD NEWS GENTLY.

Matter of Relative Values As Understood in Holstein.

"In the province of Holstein," says a traveler who spends a good deal of his time abroad, "where, of course, nothing is more important than the breeding of superior cattle, the country people are not only very thrifty, but exceedingly fond of their cows, as may be gathered from a characteristic story current there.

"It appears that one farmer was walking sadly down the road one day when the village pastor met him.

"Why so downcast, friend?" asked the pastor.

"I have a sad errand, pastor," replied the farmer. "Farmer Henrik's cow is dead in my pasture, and I am on my way to tell him."

"A hard task, indeed," said the pastor.

"You may well say so, pastor; but I shall break it to him gently."

"And how will you do that?"

"Oh, I shall tell him first that it is his father who is dead; and then, having opened the way for sadder news still, I shall tell him that it is not his father, but the cow!"—Harper's Weekly.

CHILD'S CONFIDENCE IN DADDY.

Wanted Papa to Emulate the Historic Act of Moses.

The Sunday school lesson that day had been about Moses leading the children of Israel through the wilderness, to the Promised Land, and little Bobby had been particularly impressed by the incident of the prophet striking the rock with his staff and causing the water to gush forth. After Sunday school he took a walk with his father, and could talk of nothing else.

Now, Bobby has an overwhelming respect for his father's prowess, which was not even overshadowed by the remarkable achievement of Moses. He was thoroughly imbued with the idea that there wasn't a thing in the world his father couldn't do if that thing were at all possible of accomplishment.

So when they came to a pile of large boulders, with the Sunday school lesson still uppermost in his mind, he started his father by exclaiming:

"Say, pop, hit a rock. I want a drink!"

YOUNG WHITE WOMAN EMPLOYED AS STENOGRAPHER AT THE CAPITAL.

EXCULPATE HIMSELF OR BE DISCHARGED

Franklin, of St. Louis County, is Temporarily Suspending Pending Inquiry Into this Case.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Violence was threatened last afternoon against a negro named Franklin, a house employe from St. Louis county, because of an impertinence offered a young white woman stenographer on the senate clerical force. Every effort was made to keep the matter quiet.

Senate and house members were deeply incensed, and Franklin was temporarily suspended by Chief Clerk Goshorn, at the instance of the committee on clerical force.

Representative Hart, of that committee, says the negro must satisfactorily exculpate himself or be discharged.

The victim of his addresses was much frightened and was in a highly nervous state when Lieutenant Governor Gmelich questioned her concerning the matter.

There were threats that the negro would be ordered to leave town, but wiser counsel prevailed against violence.

WANTED ONLY MONEY'S WORTH.

Example of the Workings of the "New England Conscience."

A woman who has spent many summers at Haines' Falls in the Catskills tells the following story:

"A mountain wagon full of summer excursionists stopped at the hotel one morning. They wanted to see the falls 'turned on.' In order to assure a good flow of water there is a sort of lock built above the falls. The lock is always kept closed except when somebody makes application to see the falls; then, on payment of a quarter, the gates are thrown open and a fine flow of water pours forth. The old man who had charge of the falls went out and opened the gates; the visitors were delighted, paid their quarter and drove away. About half an hour later another wagonload drove up to the hotel and asked to see the falls. Again the old man went out and opened the gates; but owing to the previous drain on the water supply the result was far from satisfactory, and the spectators were not enthusiastic. The old man noticed the dissatisfaction of the visitors, and was, perhaps, somewhat conscience stricken, for when he was offered a quarter to pay for opening the gates, he hesitated a moment, then said:

"No, it wa'n't worth that much. I think there was just 'bout 17 cents' worth that time."

A Quiet Salary.

Somebody in a Minnesota town wrote a letter to the Minneapolis Journal objecting to a local clergyman because he "yelled" so much. After considering the matter the Journal reaches the conclusion that if the minister "yelled" in proportion to his salary he "wouldn't make as much noise as a mouse in a bag of feathers." The minister receives $350 a year and his parsonage. From this instance it doesn't seem as though a man on that salary ought to make very much of a racket, but perhaps he is elated because he has six or eight children and a nice dog.—Waterbury American.

What's Art?

Art is not, as the metaphysicians say, the manifestation of some mysterious idea of beauty, or good; it is not, as the aesthetical physiologists say, a game in which man lets off his excess of stored-up energy; it is not the expression of man's emotions by external signs; it is not the production of pleasing objects; and, above all, it is not pleasure; but it is a means of union among men, joining them together in the same feelings, and indispensable for the life and progress, towards well-being of individuals and of humanity.—Count Tolstoy.

THRASHED THE MARQUIS

FORMER ST. LOUISAN WHIPPED A SPANIARD WHO OWED HIM $2,800.00.

SAID TO BE THE HUSBAND OF A RELATIVE

One-Time Head of the Wainwright Brewery Was Indicted in Folk Boogie Crusade in St. Louis Some Years Ago.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 5.—Ellis Wainwright, a former St. Louisan, became involved in a fisty encounter with the Marquis Amodio on the Boulevard Italienese and severely beat up the marquis, who is of the Spanish nobility, according to a dispatch from Paris.

The fight grew out of a loan made by Wainwright of $2,800 to the marquis which had not been repaid. It is said the marquis is married to Josephine Wainwright a relative of Wainwright.

St. Louis connections of the Wainwright family said last night there was no Miss Josephine Wainwright who was a cousin of Ellis Wainwright, and that he had no relatives in France. The story as told in the cable is news to them.

The marquis, says the dispatch, is very fat, and made no resistance, but contented himself with upbraiding his assailant as an "American barbarian."

Wainwright has been residing in Paris for the past seven years, during which time an indictment demanding his attention in the Folk boogie exposures in connection with the suburban railway bill in the house of delegates has been held in abeyance.

Mr. Wainwright was head of the Wainwright brewery and owner of the Wainwright building.

The name of the Marquis Amodio is not in the Almanac de Gotha, which is supposed to contain the register of all truly nobles.

A BOOK TRUST TO BE GOOD

Texas Reached an Agreement With American Company.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 5.—When the case of the state of Texas against the American Book company of New Jersey and the same company of New York was called yesterday it was announced an agreement had been reached.

An infraction of the anti-trust laws of the state was charged and an order was asked as well as penalties aggregating $3,700,000. An order dismissing the litigation was entered.

In the agreement it is stipulated that many of the conditions alleged to have been brought about by the acts of the New Jersey corporation had been corrected, and that the company had, in fact, dissolved before the investigation begun, and that the New York company had withdrawn its permit to do business in this state.

The New Jersey company is to enter an appearance, the validity of service upon it having been questioned, and a decree for the recovery of $15,000 be entered.

Few perhaps are aware of the extent to which the city of London is bridged over. In all, it seems, there are no fewer than 75 bridges. Of these 19 are railway bridges, three are bridges over roads (such as Holborn viaduct) and 53 bridges which connect private premises.

WAS TOO JEALOUS FOR HIM

Close Tab Kent by Wife Became Irksome to Husband.

St. Louis, Feb. 5.—Charles H. Hager, purchasing agent for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, who seeks a divorce from Edna G. Hager, testified that, although he still loves his wife, it would be useless for them to try to live together again because of her jealous disposition.

"She scratched and pinched me so often I had to leave her," he declared. Mrs. Hager denies her husband's charges of jealousy, and asks that his petition for divorce be not granted.

Mr. and Mrs. Hager were married nine months before their separation, last August. The plaintiff testified that their first quarrel took place an hour after the wedding.

"She got angry," he said, "because I danced with one of the bridesmaids." Here are some of Mrs. Hager's alleged manifestations of jealousy, as recited by her husband on the witness stand:

"In public, watched him continuously so he wouldn't flirt with other women."

"Telephoned at his place of business every fifteen minutes to keep tab on him."

"Compelled him to ride in front seat of street cars so he couldn't look at women. Also required him to leave by way of front platform."

Another indignity mentioned by Hager was the alleged threat made by Mrs. Hager to poison him.

"One time she put something bitter in my iced tea," said the witness, "and I thought she had carried out her threat. She afterwards admitted she had put Lydia Pinkham's vegetable compound in the tea."

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

STATION AGENT WHO IS SAID TO HAVE GOT BENEFIT OF PENNY CHANGE.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

A traveling man stood in a waiting room of a railway in a city one cold day when a crowd of ladies came in to buy tickets for another city to which the fare was, we will say, 48 cents, says an exchange.

He may have been without pennies, but anyway the first lady handed him a five-dollar bill, and received four dollars and fifty cents in change. Some paid fifty cents and others gave him a dollar, but in no case was he offered forty-eight cents and in no case did he give back the change.

It was supposed that the ladies did not know the fare, as none was heard to ask. Several men bought tickets, among them the traveling man, who was about the last, and he handed the agent one dollar. He received back the usual 50-cent piece. He told the agent that the fare was 48 cents, and then he got the two cents coming to him.

There were almost two car loads of women, and it is supposed that he cleared two cents on each—and it is not likely that the company received the extra two cents each.

Your REAL friends, those whom you have known half of a natural lifetime, and know you can trust them.

Ask them what about "Washclean?" Thousands of women in Sedalia are using "Washclean" with the same regularity as you are using coffee for breakfast, and are telephoning their friends and relation in the country of what a relief "Washclean" is to the poor little housewife on the greatest grief day of her life.

"Washclean" is a surprise to everyone who uses it—it is wonderful what it will do—"Washclean" eliminates the use in every way of the washboard or washing machine.

Fifteen minutes will wash one boiler of clothes, thirty minutes for two, and when through your washing you are not tired and worn out. When your husband comes home to dinner, he finds you with everything prepared, and STILL you are not tired. The wrinkles in your face caused from work and worry as to how you were going to get through on washday grow dim and dimmer, till finally disappear. Your husband will like you better, as no man likes to see his wife with a face full of wrinkles.

This is an exceptionally good chance to secure great bargains, as our stock is already marked at a low figure and with one-third off, it makes them less than any competition could dare offer the same goods for.

This applies to laces and embroideries only.

MAN IN AN EXPRESS BOX

Unique Plan to Rob Lake Shore Express Disclosed.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 5.—Toledo police and railroad authorities are investigating a "man in the box" mystery which they believe was an attempt to rob the express car on a Lake Shore train. Since Wednesday, when the strange case was reported, the matter was suppressed.

In the car was a long box consigned from Toledo to Worcester, Mass., by the American Express company. Near Sandusky the messenger heard a voice coming from the box and upon opening it discovered a man, who jumped out and began a struggle. The messenger, however, covered the stranger with his revolver.

The train was stopped and the man thrown out of the car. The police of Cleveland and Toledo have no clue.

WEST WAS REALLY WILD

WHEN ZEBULON M. PIKE DISCOVERED PIKE'S PEAK, COLO., 130 YEARS AGO.

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF THE EVENT

He Was Born in Lambertton, New Jersey, February 5, 1779—His Father Was an Officer in the American Army.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 5.—Zebulon M. Pike, the discoverer of Pike's Peak, Colorado, and one of the most intrepid of American explorers in the days when the "wild west" was really wild, was born 130 years ago today.

The anniversary will be celebrated in several cities by patriotic and Masonic bodies. Pike was a distinguished Mason of his time, and the fraternity has erected a monument to his memory in Washington.

Zebulon Montgomery Pike was the explorer's full name, and he was a Jerseyite by birth, having been born in what is now Lambertton, New Jersey, on February 5, 1779. His father was an officer in the American army.

Before Zebulon had attained his majority he entered a company under his father's command, and served for a time on the western frontier. He received the commission of ensign, and later was made a lieutenant of the First regiment, United States Infantry.

In 1805, the United States having accomplished the Louisiana purchase, and Clark and Lewis having been sent to find the sources of the Missouri, Pike was ordered on a similar expedition to trace the headwaters of the Mississippi. He succeeded in satisfactorily performing the service.

Within two months after his return he was selected by General Wilkinson to head another exploring party. During this expedition Pike discovered Pike's Peak, in the Rocky mountains, and finally reached the Rio del Norte, where he and his force found themselves on Spanish territory.

They were obliged to accompany a body of Spanish cavalry to Santa Fe, where they were dismissed, after Pike's papers had been taken from him. He arrived at Natchitoches, July 1, 1807, and was commended by the government for zeal, perseverance and intelligence.

Pike was at once appointed a captain, soon afterward a major, and in 1810 became a colonel of infantry. On the declaration of war, in 1812, Pike was stationed on the northern frontier as a brigadier-general, and in 1813 led an expedition against York (now Toronto), Canada.

The surrender of the position was momentarily expected, when a terrible explosion occurred in the British magazine. Pike was so badly wounded that he expired soon after, on April 13, having the satisfaction, however, of witnessing the surrender of the British.

SOUGHT TO CREATE SCENE

Woman Says She Has Done Browne a Great Wrong.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 5.—A woman giving her name as Miss Florence Miller, of West Madison street, Chicago, was arrested last night in a rooming house across from the St. Nicholas hotel.

She claims she was asked by certain persons in Chicago, whose names she refuses to divulge, to come to Springfield and to create a scene in the house of representatives by calling out for minority leader Lee O'Neil Browne.

"I feel that I have done Mr. Browne a great wrong," she said last night, "and I am sorry for it."

The woman says she is the same person who went to Ottawa, Ill., last September, during the campaign, when Mr. Browne was a candidate for re-election, went to the office of Mr. Browne, created a scene there and took chloroform. She was taken to a hospital, where she recovered in a week and returned to Chicago.

At Ottawa, according to her story, she registered at the hotel as Miss E. Ellis, of New York.

Death ensued within a short time.

Mrs. Sex was accused of stealing fourteen chickens and some meat from a neighbor.

SEEKS TO FREE MADMAN

A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN WILL APPEAR AS ATTORNEY FOR DEFENDANT.

JOHN B. DE TIERRE KILLED HIS BROTHER

For the Past Six Years He Has Been Confined as the Most Dangerous Paranoiac in Matteawan Asylum.

Murderer De Tierre's Eug-House Epigrams.

"Don't sneeze at worms; you may be full of them some day."
"The ocean is the savings bank for the little rivulets; but it never closes nor suspends."
"A man that never had a loss never had a winning."
"The sun is not discouraged by the cloud in his path."
"Every man's character is a photograph by himself."
"If your make noise enough, some of the other fellows will hear you. All men are not deaf."
"Don't ride always; go afoot occasionally."
"Learn to laugh and you will get you half. You have gall to want it all."

"Writing is considered by alienists as a sign of insanity. In a bug house patients are always busy. Authors beware!"
"Advice is plentiful. Take a handful."
"You would better have a little library and carry it in your head than a big one on a shelf in your sleeping quarters."
"It is astonishing what a lot of fool stuff can be sold. That's the reason I wrote this. The junk man will buy it if you don't."

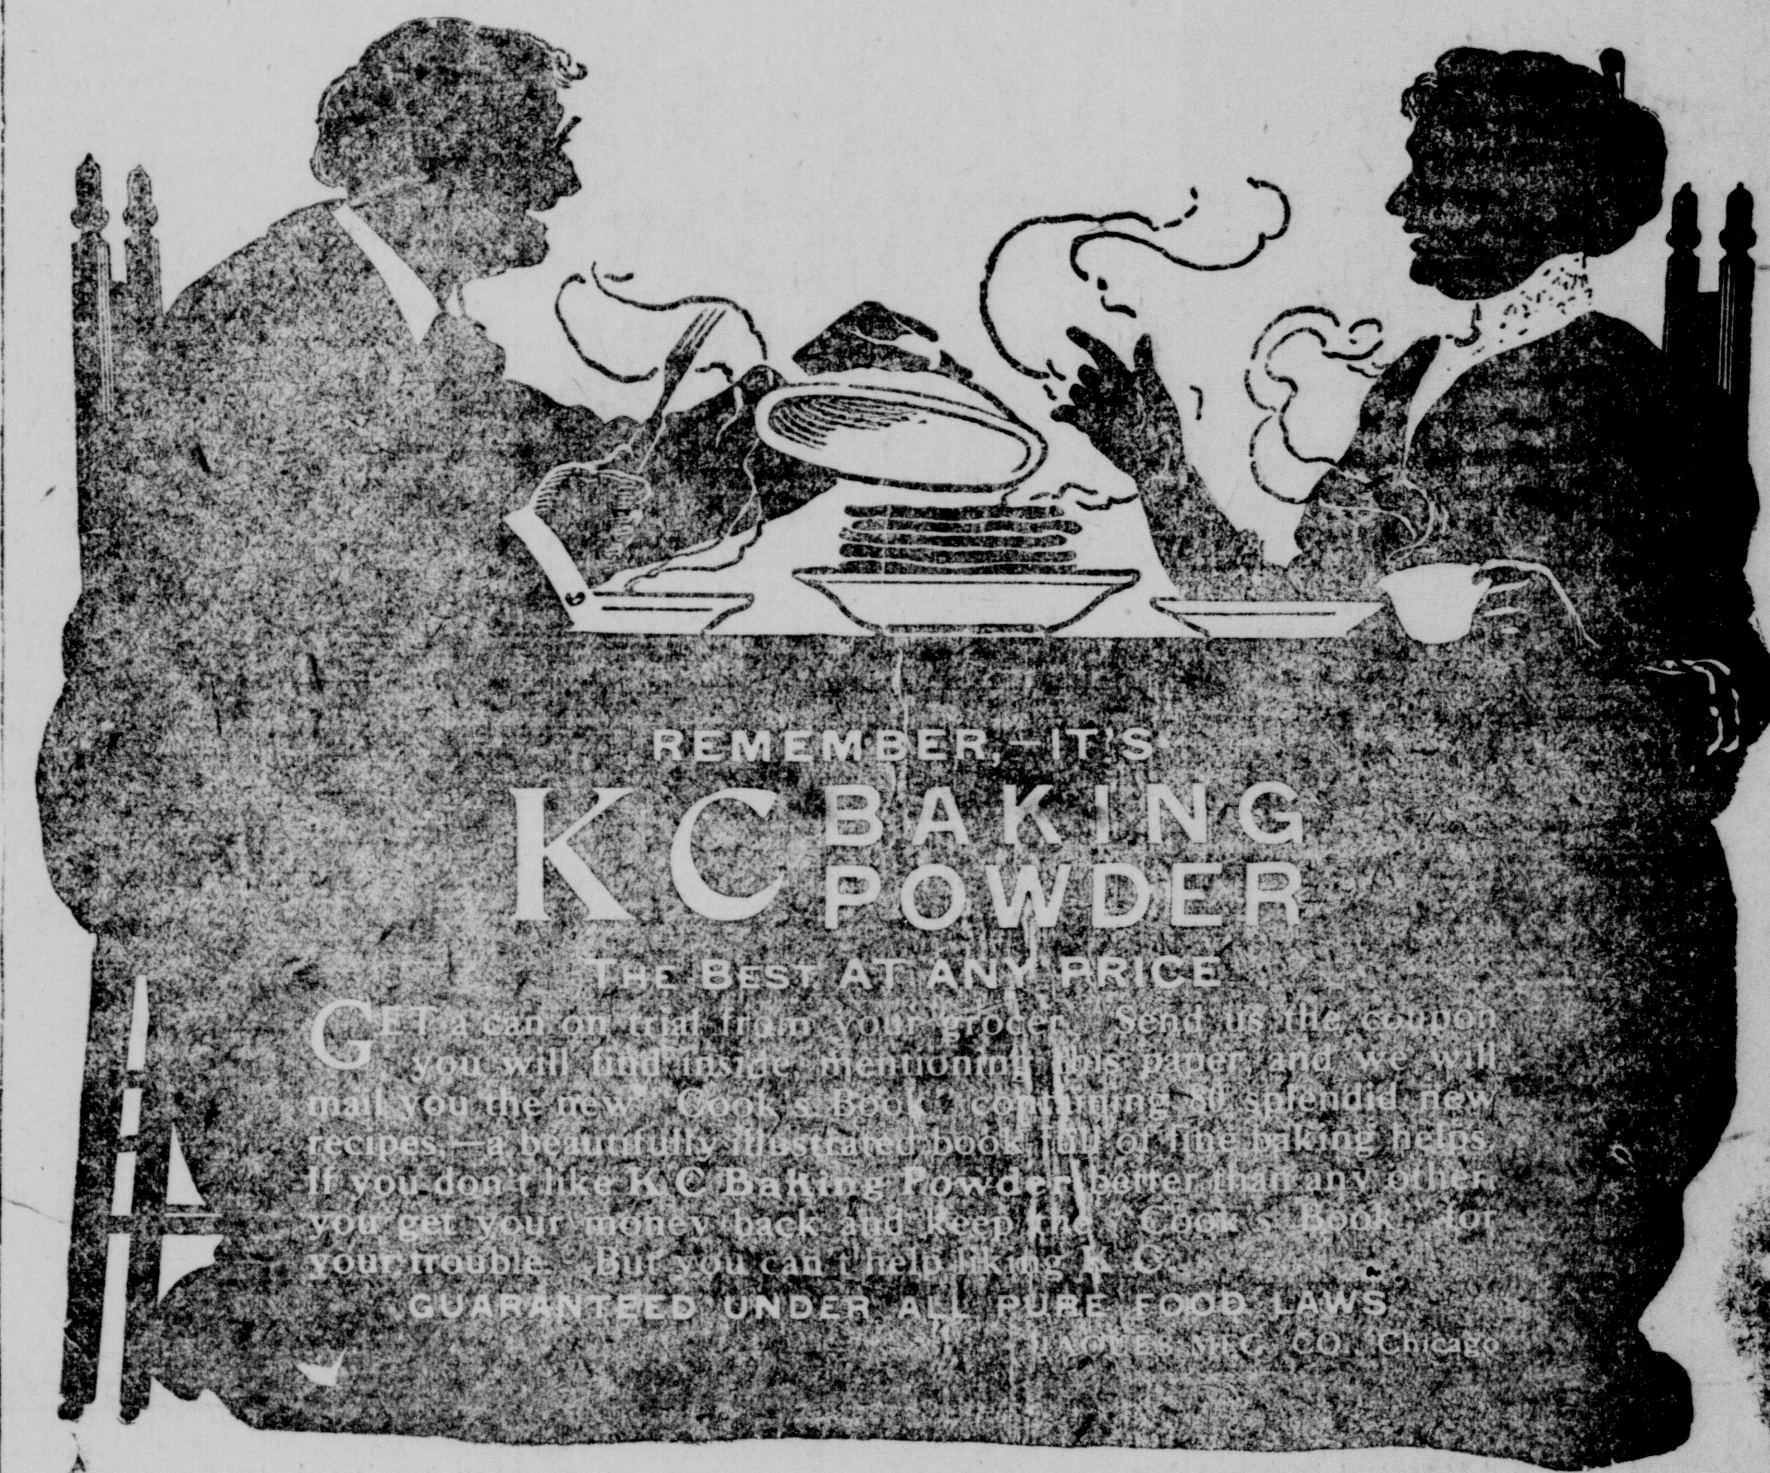

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 5.—A beautiful woman will appear as attorney for a client who is a murderous madman, before Judge Thompson at Poughkeepsie tomorrow, and endeavor to prove to the satisfaction of that jurist that the authorship of a book of epigrams is sufficient proof of sanity.

The fair lawyer is Miss Mary Coleman, and her client is John B. De Tierre, who killed his brother, was adjudged insane and is now a guest of the Matteawan asylum for the criminal insane, where for six years he has been closely confined as the most dangerous paranoiac in the institution.

If Miss Coleman succeeds in showing that De Tierre is capable of conferring with counsel, his trial for first degree murder will be ordered, and the young woman lawyer will be the first of her sex in the country to act

"MOTHER, what makes everything so good these days?"

"Why, it's that K C BAKING POWDER. Cake, biscuit or griddle-cakes,—it's all the same. Since I've used K C everything comes out just right,—light, crisp and fit for a king. I knew I was safe in trying it,—they were so sure I'd like it. They refund your money if you don't like it better than any other,—better,—mind you. Then it's guaranteed under every Pure Food Law you ever heard of, and, you won't believe it, but it costs less than what I've used,—a real nice saving. I understand it's because they don't belong to the Baking Powder "Trust." My, it's a satisfaction to get good value for your money these days when everything's so high."

as chief counsel for the defense in a legal battle for a man's life.

Miss Coleman will seek to prove her contention of De Tierre's sanity by introducing the manuscript of a book of epigrams which her client has written while confined at Matteawan and which will shortly be published.

The writings of the murderer are confined exclusively to aphorisms, which he claims are absolutely original and in no sense adaptations of sayings of other persons. The title of the work Miss Coleman refuses to divulge for reasons which she is not ready to make public, but which, she says, will create a sensation if De Tierre is brought to trial. The paragraph that forms the brief epitome reads as follows:

"This is a Funny Book, Written by a Funny Man, in a Funny House. What do you think of it?"

De Tierre's crime was one of peculiar atrocity. His family was well known in Albany, where he lived with his brother, William, and his mother. Disputes over a division of property resulted in John De Tierre giving up all other business and devoting himself entirely to what he declared was the maintenance of a principle. He prepared and caused to be introduced in the legislature bills prohibiting a father from disinheriting a son or daughter, who took the part of a mother in a family quarrel. On March 22, 1902, he met his brother, William on Swan street in Albany, and whipping out a revolver fired six shots. All went wild. He drew another weapon and with the first shot pierced his brother's heart. Then he stood over him and firing five shots into different parts of the victim's head and body, he placed over the dead man's face a placard, on which was written in bold letters:

"You have seen a fatal wedding. Now see a mother's heart."

De Tierre was arrested and indicted for murder in the first degree, but the district attorney was convinced that he was irresponsible, and when this view was confirmed by Dr. MacDonald, the murderer was sent to Matteawan. While it is admitted there that his condition has improved, he still is regarded as insane and dangerous. He was recently brought to White Plains on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Justice Maddox, of Brooklyn, on the application of Miss Coleman. The district attorney who opposed bringing De Tierre to trial for murder, said he would produce fifty-two witnesses tomorrow to prove the prisoner a lunatic and unfit to understand or conduct a defense. Miss Coleman declares she will prove De Tierre's sanity with three witnesses.

Miss Coleman, who is a suffragette, is to be married at Easter to Frederick Lampton Hardenbrook.

ROBBER IS NEAR DEATH

Watched by Detectives, Unable to Use Hidden $50,000.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 5.—It is stated by private detectives in the employ of Wells, Fargo & Co. that Charles Beeler, the express robber whom they have been shadowing constantly for the last three years, is dying in a little shack near Houston.

Beeler was a driver for the Wells-Fargo Express company in San Antonio and robbed a safe of $50,000.

He was captured in a cowboy camp, but none of the money was found. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary for robbery.

He served out his term and was met at the door of the prison by detectives who have been so close to him that he has never been able to get the money.

Husband and Wife.

"As the husband is the wife is." Of course, there are exceptions, but in the main there never was truer word spoken. A wife bears her husband's name, she takes his place in society, and in everything unless she be far more than uncommon, his future gives color and shape to hers. Undoubtedly a good wife will do a man good and not evil all the days of her life, yet there are times when the good seems powerless; the world is full of women who deserve to be ranked with the noble army of martyrs; women whose good deeds, whose saintly acts of self-sacrifice, are to all human vision as precious pearls cast before swine.—Exchange.

The Angle of the Blade

One of the exclusive features of the Keen Kutter Safety Razor, wherein it excels all others, is the angle of the blade. It is set at just the right slope for a comfortable, velvety shave. It can't scrape—it can't slip over the beard—every stroke cuts clean and close without the slightest discomfort to the most tender skin.

This is but one of the important features of the remarkable

KEEN KUTTER Safety Razor

that make it the greatest safety razor ever manufactured.

The blade may be slanted to the proper degree to give the sliding cut that shaves smoothly without pulling, and this slant can be regulated to suit your own style of stroke.

The blades are sufficiently thick to insure a keen, durable edge and rigid enough to prevent any springing or vibration of the blade while shaving.

REV. MOODY'S BIRTHDAY

SEVENTY-TWO YEARS AGO EVANGELIST FIRST SAW THE LIGHT OF DAY.

DIED NINE YEARS AGO LAST DECEMBER

Friends Took Up His Burden and Have Successfully Carried on the Great Religious Work Established by Him.

Northfield, Mass., Feb. 5.—Seventy-two years ago today, Dwight L. Moody, the most famous evangelist of the last century, was born in this city, and the anniversary was fittingly observed by the men and women who have taken up his burden and successfully carried on the great religious educational institutions he established here.

It has been nearly a decade since Moody passed away, but his spirit, like John Brown's, "goes marching on." Today's anniversary of the great evangelist's birth finds his successors beginning a movement for the wide extension of the sphere of usefulness of the institutions which were Moody's hope and pride.

On the death of Evangelist Moody nine years ago last December, the work he had begun at Northfield was intrusted to the body of friends whom he had gathered around him as a board of trustees. During this time the two Northfield schools have passed through a crisis which has demonstrated the loyalty of these trustees and friends to Mr. Moody's purposes for the work, and today the work is still being maintained in behalf of poor boys and girls.

In spite of the financial depression of the past year, as well as the steadily increasing cost of living, these two institutions have been enabled by the support of their friends, to keep down their charges of board and tuition to the fee of $100 a school year, as originally charged when the schools were begun. By increasing the appeals for this work to the Christian public necessary funds have been raised to meet the ever increasing need for current expenses.

For the first few years after Mr. Moody's death it was felt that the wisest course would be to demonstrate to the Christian public that Northfield remained true to the purposes of the founder and was following the line of work which he laid down. This seems now to be generally acknowledged, and the time has come, in the judgment of Northfield friends, to extend Northfield's scope and ministry.

Already a number of new buildings have been given, which will greatly increase the efficiency of the work, and the announcement of the $100,000 for the Mount Hermon Boys' school brings the amount raised for new buildings in the past three years to nearly $500,000. But this affords no new dormitories nor does it provide for increasing the number of students. During the past year the aggregate enrollment in the two schools has approximated 1,200 students and more than 1,200 applicants for admission this fall have been refused for lack of accommodations. There is urgent and immediate need for new dormitories, and it is hoped that in the next two or three years $500,000 may be secured to extend the ministry of Mount Hermon Boys' school and Northfield Seminary.

Is Your Credit Good?

THE representatives of the MERCHANTS' MERCANTILE COMPANY are here arranging for the publication of A CREDIT GUIDE for this district as a basis of credit. By this system each individual is placed on record showing how many places they obtain credit and with what degree of promptness they pay their bills. The book will show, not the financial standing, but the credit standing of everybody, man and woman, who trades on time, and as it is not a financial rating the poor man pays his bills promptly will receive a higher rating than the man of means who does not. This system covers not only Sedalia, but the entire United States, so any merchant may refer to it and see how you are regarded in so far as your credit is concerned.

Now is the time to pay the old account and secure a good credit rating.

PUTS CHILD ON HOT STOVE

Marshal Saves Man Who Tortured Little One From a Mob.

Stamton, Ill., Feb. 5.—Julius Greenwalt, a coal miner of this city, narrowly escaped rough handling at the hands of a mob Wednesday night by being spirited away by the police of the village.

Greenwalt placed the 4-year-old child of the woman with whom he boarded on the top of a red-hot stove because the child annoyed him. He was arrested later, and a number of his fellow workers heard of his deed and started to give him what they thought he deserved.

Instead of taking Greenwalt to the jail the village marshal hid him in a restaurant near the interurban station, and when a north-bound car arrived he was taken to Carlinville.

Greenwalt has a divorced wife in St. Louis, and has boarded in this city for several months. He stated he had more or less trouble with his landlady's children and frequently punished them. The child is in a serious condition.

Hoarse coughs and stuffy colds that may develop into pneumonia over night are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, and it soothes inflamed membranes, heals the lungs, and expels the cold from the system.—Arlington Pharmacy.

Slump of $2 in Zinc Ore in Missouri-Kansas District.

Galena, Kas., Feb. 5.—A slump of $2 in price of zinc ore marked the opening of the market in the Kansas-Missouri mining district yesterday, and as a result of unfavorable prices it is reported that many mines will be shut down.

First offerings today were $28 per ton of 60 per cent mineral, making top grades worth $41 per ton. This is the second $2 slump since the federal court at New Orleans decided against domestic producers in three years seeking the levying of duty on importations from Mexico.
